BEVERAGE STYLE

A small family winery adhering to the principles of quality wine making, Brookmere Winery has been making wine for 36 years. Their home winery is located in the heart of "Big Valley" in Belleville, Pennsylvania. All of their delicious libations are made with Pennsylvania grown grapes and fruits, many of which are grown in their own 10 acres of vineyards. They take pride in their award-winning wines with selections for any preference. Choose from reds, whites, blush and fruit wines ranging from dry to sweet.

LOCATION EXPERIENCE

Brookmere's Adams County winery is located in New Oxford, Pennsylvania. A rustic tasting room with a casual atmosphere, they invite you to stop by, relax with a bottle of award-winning wine, and maybe even catch some live music. Brookmere Winery is frequently used for bridal showers, baby showers and other special events.

FLAVORFUL FACT

Brookmere's wine labels are created by local artists, and often come with a unique story. For example, the label for Red Foxx features a red fox driving a reddish colored jeep. When owners, Ed and Cheryl Glick, bought the winery in 2007 this wine was the first unique wine Ed made on his own. He was sitting in his lab doing some paperwork, eating cinnamon red hot candies and drinking a glass of wine. With these two items in front of him, he decided to add them together and so became Red Foxx. Known as the Red Foxx growing up for his quick speed and his red jeep, this wine was named after its creator, Ed.
